His Skull Fractured.

Monday morning early Dr. Seargent was called to see Ed. Hawley, son of Mr. J. F. Hawley, who had been wounded in a difficulty at the Driving Park a few hours before. Hawley was suffering from a severe scalp wound and a probable fracture of the skull and was not able to give an intelligent account of the affair. He merely stated that a negro had struck him on the head with some hard substance. Hawley is pretty badly hurt, and it is highly probable that he will not recover.

About noon yesterday policemen Biggs and Wadlington arrested Quint Tyler, colored, and placed him in jail for striking and wounding Hawley. Tyler says Hawley called him a— and a— and that he promptly responded by striking him on the head with a pitch fork. It looks new like a bad case will probably develop from the episode.

Our readers will remember the sensational case of Allen Weaver's assault upon Mrs. Litchfield while sleeping in the same room with herself and husband a few nights since, near Hiser's store. Last Thursday the case was called for trial in Esq. Cox's court. H. J. Stites appeared as attorney for Weaver and Col. Cato for the Commonwealth. Mrs. Litchfield's testimony was substantially the facts as published at the time of the occurrence. Weaver denied the whole story, and after hearing the facts and the argument the court acquitted him from all guilt in the matter.

The southdown lambs for the occasion were unusually fine." The other read: "Messrs. C. A. Thompson and T. J. Morrow are attending the great temperance meeting, at Dawson. They will remain till the close of the meeting." It is supposed that these gentlemen have secured the Dawson meeting to exhibit at their next burgoo.

KILLING AT HERNDON.

Walter Duncan Stabs Chas. Fleming—Death Ensuing Instantly. Mrs. Fleming Arrested as Accessory.

Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock at the residence of Mrs. Eliza Fleming, at Herndon, Charles Fleming and Walter Duncan got into a fight. Fleming clutched Duncan by the throat and the latter used his knife with fatal effect, stabbing Fleming four times in the breast, the last stroke causing almost instantaneous death. Duncan gave himself up and was brought to this city Sunday night and lodged in jail, where he was seen by a KENTUCKIAN reporter to whom he related the following facts:

Duncan lives near Lafayette on Dr. J. R. Garner's place. Sunday he came to Herndon to bring a niece who boarded at Mrs. Fleming's and went to school in the neighborhood. He was also negotiating with her about the rent of her farm, when Charles Fleming, her divorced husband, came in and began to abuse Duncan, telling him he should not work on the place and threatening him with death if he plowed a furrow. One word brought on another until Fleming pulled off his coat and told Duncan he was going to whip him. Duncan drew his knife warning Fleming to keep away from him. The warning had no effect and the men clutched as above stated. Fleming jerked Duncan out of the house choking him all the time. When three cuts had been made Duncan told Fleming he (Fleming) was hurt and weakening and to sit down. Fleming replied, "I'm not so weak as you think," and gave an upward jerk, when Duncan made an upward thrust with his knife, the blade probably striking the heart, and the wounded man sank down and died.

The only immediate witnesses to the affair were Mrs. Fleming, her three sons and a daughter-in-law, though other parties saw the conclusion of the fight from a distance. Fleming was a robust man weighing about 200 pounds. Duncan is a wiry, muscular young fellow about 24 years of age. The above is the statement as made by Duncan.

The examining trial will be held before Judge Winfree Friday when all the facts will be developed. Charley Bush has been retained as counsel by Duncan.

MRS. FLEMING ARRESTED.

Monday morning Mrs. Fleming was arrested on a warrant sworn out by J. F. Taylor and Ed Fleming before Esq. Major charging her with being an accessory before the fact. She was brought to this city and released on a bond of $1250. Taylor says that a week ago Mrs. Fleming said that her former husband Charles Fleming "would not be alive a week longer," and that the belief in the community is that she backed Duncan in executing the crime. He further says that it is believed Duncan and she wanted to marry, and that they concocted the scheme to lead Chas. Fleming into the difficulty in order that he might be put out of the way, and that both men went out of the house to have a fair fight when Duncan foully brought his knife into play.

The above are the facts as given by both sides fairly stated and can be taken for what they are worth. The trial Friday will fully develop the case in all its features.

Yocum, the asylum patient who escaped some time since, and gave the Daviess county officers so much trouble to capture him, managed somehow to escape again Sunday and is now at large. He is said to be a desperate man.

mer occupation being too hard labor for me, I was looking for a light, pleasant and paying business, and I am perfectly satisfied that I have not missed my desire in selecting your line. I can easily make $100 per month selling your Garment Cutter. It is simple in its work, and perfect in its fit, when care is taken, giving a perfect fit without a change. I tell you it is the ladies' companion and the agents redemption. Yours truly, JOHN SECHRIST.

WARSAW IND., Oct. 1, 1888.

DEAR SIR:—As I have a few moments to spare I will make a formal report of my work in the interest of the Garment Cutter. I can truly say that I have never seen any kind of your Cutter. The work is especially intended for the husband and the wife, more so than any other line of work I know of. And there is no young lady or mother who can afford to be without the Garment Cutter. It is as necessary an article as the sewing machine, and in fact a companion of the machine. My first experience selling the Cutter has netted me five dollars per day, and I consider this good pay for a lady just starting in the work. The Cutter is very simple, quickly learned and perfect in its work, and a rapid selling article.

Yours truly, MRS. LYMAN DUNLAP.
